

Om Pathak, a soldier, civil servant and an educationist, is the founder & Chairman of Delhi Public School Society, Ghaziabad that now runs seven schools in North India and is also the founder & Chairman of SelaQui International School in Dehradun - one of the leading 'fully residential schools' in the India.

Om Pathak has been associated with education for more than 40 years. He was on the boards of La'Martiniere Schools, one of the oldest schools in India, as its vice chairman and also on Colvin Taluqdars College. He was also on the board of IMT, Institute of Management Technology, one of top management schools in India.

TeacherSITY, another of Pathak's initiatives was set up to prepare teachers and also provide professional development opportunities to practicing teachers and principals. In association with Central Board of Secondary Education, CBSE, Army Welfare Education Society, Central Schools and Navodaya Vidyalays, TeacherSITY has already trained more than 5,000 teachers and 130 principals from across India.

With a view to connect policy with practice, PrincipalsFORUM has already held three national level annual conferences, where the policy makers and regulators come together to address the challenges. PrincipalsFORUM is also a platform for preparing school leaders for their evolving roles.

During his career with IAS, Indian Administrative Service, Pathak headed institutions and corporations dealing with a wide range of activities that include rural development, co-operatives, social forestry, employment generation, anti-poverty programs, dairy & animal husbandry, power & energy, hospitality & hotels, urban development & housing, industrial development and Education.

CONTACT DETAILS;

D-251, Country Club Road,
Anupam Gardens, Neb Sarai,
New Delhi - 110068, INDIA
Email; ompathak1@gmail.com

www.selaqui.org

www.teachersity.org

www.dpsgs.org

www.principals.in

Updated: 16th July 2020